LIVINGSTON COUNTY.

Farmers Club—Big Iron Furnace Popular Teacher Married.

The farmers of Livingston county met in Salem Saturday, August 17th, and organized "The Livingston County Farmers Club," consisting of 33 members.

The nineteenth annual session of the Ohio River Baptist Association, at Grand Rivers, was one of the most interesting sessions ever held by that body. The Rev. G. N. McGrew was re-elected Moderator and Eld J. S. Miller was re-elected Clerk.

Revs. T. L. Crandall and R. L. Tally closed their meeting at Livingston Chapel last Monday. The meeting was a great success, thirty-six were converted and twenty-one joined the church.

It is now a settled fact that Geo. W. Dixon, the furnace man, will build an iron furnace at Iuka and that work will begin on its erection Oct. 1st. Already more than two hundred tons of the very finest needle ore has been dug out and there seems no end to the vein, but on the contrary it grows in greater abundance as the year deepens in the ground.

The work of repairing the two great iron furnaces at Grand Rivers is being systematically continued, and it is estimated that they will be ready for operation by November 1. The Illinois Central Railroad has put in a switch at the furnaces. The shed has been extended some distance towards the town, the painting of the iron work is almost completed, the levee to the Tennessee river is now being crowned with a thick stratum of cinders, which will render it an ideal driveway, and the trestle work is being sufficiently strengthened and repaired for the support of the trains of ore which will ere long be rolled over it.

The Hillman property, besides supplying the ores for the furnaces, is to be utilized as a great farm and stock ranch, under the management of Mr. Barstoe. The contract for the thirty miles of fencing necessary for its being fitted for the purpose is soon to be let to the lowest bidder.

Mr. E. C. Simmons, the St. Louis capitalist, who is heavily interested in the furnaces and ore land will build a $20,000 residence at Grand Rivers. He and his wife will arrive there the first part of September to select the site.

PYLE-BOYD WEDDING.

The bride is a beautiful and highly accomplished young lady, the eldest daughter of Mr. Robert Boyd. She is known only to be loved and admired, and is especially loved by a host of boys and girls of Livingston and Crittenden counties, who were so fortunate as to be her pupils.

The groom is a prosperous business man of Columbia, Ky.

After the ceremony the bride and groom left for Buffalo and Niagara Falls, to spend several weeks. Mr. and Mrs. Pyle will be at their new home in Columbia after October 1st. Many friends and relatives from other places attended the ceremony.

Mrs. Helen Dunn, of Paducah aunt of the bride, attended the wedding. Other friends present from abroad were: Miss Lorena Pyle, sister of the groom, Columbia, Ky.; Miss May Atwood, Clinton; Mrs. H. C. Glenn, Crayneville; W. M. Glenn and wife, Ed-dyville; Miss Rose Duley, Smithland; Mrs. M. McChesney, Kelsey; Mrs. J. R. Willett, Midlothian, Tex.; Mr. J. M. Freeman, wife and daughter, of Marion, and Mrs. M. D. Rodney of Marion.

This wedding was pronounced by all as being a most beautiful one in every respect, and pleasant memories will linger with the guests forever, and well wishes go out for those two who are now one. A Guest.

A Card.

Language sometimes seems feeble indeed when burdened with the weight of a grateful heart's attempt to express its sense of obligation to those who have ministered to us in affliction.

Such is the case with myself and sorely bereaved family, when we attempt to convey to our many dear friends and neighbors, who so tenderly and constantly helped our suffering daughter Emma during her last illness. All honor to the skillful and faithful physicians who with all their learning and experience endeavored to stop the devouring fever, and prolong her precious life. God's blessings be upon them, for they thought no of reward in this life; and how can we cease to love and remember the dear ones who watched and worked, the long nights through, in vain endeavor to save our precious child. Our fullest thanks are due to the city authorities and the public, who in pity for us and our suffering one, abandoned travel and traffic upon the street, in order that quiet might contribute to her comfort, and the much needed rest might be had. Surely our community knows of Him who loved us and gave himself for us. Surely a good God will visit blessings upon them, for he said, "In as much as ye did it unto one of the least of these, ye did it unto me;" and when relentless death had done its work, and the beautiful spirit of Emma Bigham had passed over into the endless life, her loved companions and co-workers of the Sabbath School and Epworth League and choir she so much loved, brought bright, sweet flowers and laid them on her grave—tender, loving prophecies of life and love beyond the stars forever. Heaven reward them all and bring them all to the flower land above.

We gratefully acknowledge the kindness and christian liberality of Bros. R. W. Wilson and J. Bell Kevil who without one cent of cost to us presented us by deed a beautiful plot in the new cemetery, where rests the dust of our sleeping children, until they and we shall awake with His likeness.

J. W. Bigham and Family.

Question Answered.

Yes, August Flower still has the largest sale of any medicine in the civilized world. Your mothers and grandmothers never thought of using anything else for Indigestion or Biliousness. Doctors were scarce and they seldom heard of Appendicitis, Nervous Prostration or Heart failure, etc. They used August Flower to clean out the system and stop fermentation, of undigested food, regulate the action of the liver, stimulate the nervous and organic action of the system, and that is all they took when feeling dull and bad with headaches and other aches. You only need a few doses of Green's August Flower, in liquid form, to make you satisfied there is nothing serious the matter with you. For sale by R. F. Haynes and J. H. Orme. ROOSEVELT IN CHICAGO.

The Vice-President Partakes of the Hospitalities of Several Prominent Illinoisans.

HE ALSO REVIEWS THE NAVAL MILITIA.

Brief Synopsis of the Vice-President's Speech at the Dinner Given by Gov. Yates, in His Honor, at Camp Lincoln, Springfield, on Friday Evening.

Chicago, Aug. 31.—Vice-President Roosevelt arrived in Chicago from Springfield at 7:30 a. m. Accompanying him were Gov. and Mrs. Yates, Adj.-Gen. and Mrs. Reece, Senator Cullom, Mr. and Mrs. McCullough, Col. J. H. Strong, of the governor's staff and Mrs. Strong, and Mrs. Harmon.

The vice-president drove immediately to the Chicago club, where he breakfasted with Senator Cullom and District Attorney Bethea. The forenoon was devoted to a drive with Col. Strong, followed by a luncheon at the Union league with Gov. Yates.

The programme for the afternoon contemplated a review of the naval militia on board the Dorothea, and dinner with Graeme Stewart.

Sunday will be devoted by the vice-president to engagements of a strictly private nature and he will leave for Minneapolis Sunday evening.

THE STENOUS LIFE.

Brief Synopsis of the Vice-President's Speech, Friday Night.

At the dinner, Friday evening, at Camp Lincoln, Vice-President Roosevelt spoke at some length. He began by stating that every man who does his work well, be he capitalist or tradesman, mechanic, farmer or laboring man, is also doing his duty by his country as a whole.

He dwelt upon the importance of the work of the national guard. He spoke in eulogistic terms of Illinois' great sons—Lincoln, Grant and the first Gov. Yates, and continued:

"Never be misled into feeling that the men who have built up the wealth of the commonwealth are its enemies and not its friends. The men who bring business prosperity, the men who lift us up, who give us the means to achieve civilization, they are the commonwealth's friends. They do good and never harm. They can do incalculably more good by using their talents in building up great business enterprises which benefit them, but which benefit us also, than they could do with their talent in any other way. But we must remember that the greatest debt we can owe is owed to those who do not material, but moral service—to the teachers, the soldiers, the statesmen, the public servants, provided that they work not only with disinterestedness but with sanity and common sense. We need reformers—we have got to have them. We want them, though built on the lines of Lincoln. We want men who will fix their eyes on stars, but will not forget that their feet must walk on the ground. We want men who will strive for a high ideal, but who will remember that you must achieve the highest ideal by practical methods. We owe to us as a nation if we ever permit our leading men to be base. We owe to us if we tolerate baseness, if we tolerate that which deviates from the path of rectitude, of decency and honesty. We also if we don't insist upon having common sense. Sanity and common sense go hand in hand with pure and lofty ideals. But that is not enough. I don't care how honest a man is, if he is timid, there is but little that can be done with him. I don't care how patriotic he is, if in a crisis he is afraid, for his patriotism will not do much good."

He closed by speaking briefly in a complimentary manner of the troops in camp.

SEEN ON A MICHIGAN MENU.

"St. Louis, 1903," a Popular Dish on the Menu of the Oakland Hotel, St. Clair Springs, Mich.

St. Louis, Aug. 31.—A copy of the dinner bill of fare for the Oakland hotel, at St. Clair Springs, Mich., has been received at the World's fair offices. Conspicuous among the dishes for desert is "St. Louis, 1903." A letter from Miss Florence Hayward accompanies the bill of fare, and adds the information that the dish "St. Louis, 1903," proved to be popular on the menu card. Miss Hayward said:

"I am busy inventing a new mixed drink which, when perfected, will be called by the same name."

The British Revenues.

London, Aug. 31.—The British customs collections for the fiscal year 1900-01 were £26,270,959. This is £3,227,487 more than for 1899-1900 and £2,650,959 more than the budget estimate. The inland revenues collected by the customs were £7,227,977, an increase over those of 1899-1900 of £942,081.

Lynchers Convicted.

Wetumpka, Ala., Aug. 31.—The jury in the cases of John Strength and Martin Fuller, charged with having participated in the lynching of Robert White, a negro, returned a verdict of guilty of murder in the second degree, and sentenced the defendants to ten years in the penitentiary.

THE MISSOURI MAN HUNT.

The Hunters On a Fresh Trail of "Bossie" Francis in the Neighborhood of Strasburg.

Kansas City, Mo., Aug. 31.—The scene in the hunt for "Bossie" Francis, the murderer of Miss Mary Henderson, at Columbus, shifted during the night to Strasburg, two stations west of Holden. There dogs and men made a fresh start and are covering all the ground around that town. There appears no doubt that Francis jumped off a Missouri Pacific train at Strasburg Friday night and made for the woods near by. As soon as the pursuers became convinced of this, the posse that had been searching about Holden started for Strasburg, taking additional bloodhounds, and receiving additions to the crowd at every mile.

The trial is believed the strongest one obtained since the man hunt began on Wednesday, and the people are in a fever of excitement over the apparent nearness of the negro's capture.

Francis' objective point is believed to be Kansas City, and all incoming trains from the south are watched closely, and as well men have been sent out into the outskirts of Kansas City, Kas., and will keep a close lookout.

At noon it was believed that the posse was close on the trail of Francis. When caught he will probably be taken to Columbus, which is 15 miles overland from Strasburg, and burned at the stake at the Hyatt farmhouse.

A SENSATIONAL TURN.

The Murder of Miss Henderson Given Another Coloring.

Kansas City, Mo., Aug. 31.—A special to the Star from Strasburg says: "Many of the original members of the posse have given up in disgust and have discarded their guns, saying they regret that the search was ever begun. There are dozens of men in Johnson county who believe that Francis was paid to murder Miss Henderson by white persons who wanted to get her out of the way. So convinced are many members of the posse that Francis has escaped, by the aid of white persons, that they refuse to take further part in the efforts to catch the murderer. If he is caught he will not be burned at once, but will be tortured for the purpose of making him tell what he knows about reports that white persons desired Miss Henderson to be gotten out of the way."

BARN AND HORSES BURNED.

Fire Among the St. Louis Fair Grounds Stables Causing Considerable Loss.

St. Louis, Aug. 31.—The stables across Fair avenue to the west of the fair grounds, were visited by a disastrous fire, Friday evening, which destroyed two large barns and a number of stalls, besides burning three horses to death and probably fatally burning a fourth. In addition to this there was a great deal of other property destroyed, including clothing and racing paraphernalia, while several horses ran away and could not be found. The owners of the fair grounds estimate their loss at $10,000, fully covered by insurance, while the loss to horse owners will approximate $2,500.

NEGRO BLOWN SKYWARD.

Results of Carelessly Throwing a Lighted Match in the Bung-hole of an Empty Whisky Barrel.

St. Louis, Aug. 31.—Joseph Tyler, a negro, seated himself on an empty whisky barrel in front of a liquor store, in East St. Louis, Friday evening. He struck a match, lighted his pipe and threw the match away. The match fell into the bung-hole of the empty barrel Tyler was sitting on, and in the explosion that followed he was blown almost across the street. Windows were shattered in houses in the neighborhood and Joe Adams, a pedestrian, was knocked down and sustained a fractured arm. Tyler may die as the result of his injuries. Passengers in a passing car were badly shaken up.

FOUR MORE BODIES FOUND.

Remains of Four More Victims of the City of Trenton Disaster Taken From the Delaware.

Philadelphia, Aug. 31.—The bodies of four more victims of the explosion on the steamboat City of Trenton were recovered from the Delaware river Saturday morning. Two were of women, and one was identified as the remains of Ananda Cross, 21 years of age, of Philadelphia, who had been included in the list of missing. One body was taken from the river at the scene of the explosion and another was picked up several miles below. The recovery of the four bodies increased the number of known dead to 15 and decreased the number of missing to 13.

Negro Trespasser Killed.

East St. Louis, Ill., Aug. 31.—A negro, supposed to be Edward Jones, was shot and almost instantly killed by Adolph St. Andre, a farmer, living four miles out of East St. Louis. The negro was in the act of stealing grapes when shot. A coroner's jury exonerated St. Andre.

Traffic Delayed by Washouts.

Denver, Col., Aug. 31.—Traffic on nearly all the railroads in and out of Denver was badly delayed owing to washouts caused by a heavy rain storm covering a large area east of Pike's Peak. Much damage was done at Cripple Creek.

STRIKE'S SEVENTH WEEK.

Both Sides Still Claiming That They Have the Best of the Argument.

THE FACTS FAVOR THE CORPORATION.

At McKeesport and Wheeling, However, the Strikers Continue to Have Things Their Own Way—Dissatisfaction Becoming Manifest at McKeesport.

Pittsburg, Pa., Aug. 31.—The steel strike has now been in progress for seven weeks, and both sides to the controversy are still claiming that they have the best of the argument. The facts, however, seem to favor the corporation, inasmuch as in almost every instance they have succeeded in starting those mills which they said they would operate. Additional men have been secured during the past week at the various plants running in this city, and the managers say they will have at least one more plant—the Painter's—in full operation, double-turn, within the next week.

The works at Weisville and Clark's mill, in this city, are both in full operation and the strike at these plants is considered a thing of the past.

At McKeesport and Wheeling, the strikers continue to have matters their own way. All combine plants at these places are practically tied up, and no efforts have been made on the part of the combine to resume at any of them. More or less dissatisfaction exists among the strikers at McKeesport, however, and the steel managers expect a break at any time.

It was reported, Friday night, that 40 men had returned to work in the seamless tube department of the National tube works, but this story was promptly denied. The scene of action has been switched to Duquesne, from where an early report came in that the men had gone on a strike at seven o'clock. This proved untrue, although the strike leaders claimed that a partial tie-up might occur some time during the day.

Rumor Afloat John Jarrett.

Rumor has it that John Jarrett, secretary of the labor bureau of the American Sheet Steel Co., has gone to Europe to secure skilled labor to replace the strikers, but the report is discredited in labor circles. It is known that Mr. Jarrett has not been a well man for some time, and it is said that his mission to Europe is for the sake of health.

Miners' Demonstration Probably Off.

The proposed miners' demonstration at Monessen, Pa., on Labor day, it is said, has fallen through. The leaders fear a clash between the miners and town authorities, and have about decided to call it off. The labor demonstration in Pittsburg promises to be the greatest ever seen here. Those having the affair in charge claim that 25,000 men will take part in the morning parade.

Grand Labor Day Rally.

Following the parade, the allied trades and labor unions of western Pennsylvania will hold a grand rally at Ross grove, a few miles north of this city.

The tube works at Beaver Falls, employing 300 hands, which was shut down June 15 and shortly afterward sold at receiver's sale, will resume operation on next Monday under the management of the Pittsburgh Seamless Tube Co.

All the plants started in this city since the strike began are operating with increased forces.

PORTER WANTS TO PLAY AGAIN.

Seeking Resumption of Diplomatic Relations with France So as to Talk Matters Over.

Constantinople, Aug. 31.—M. Rapst, councillor of the French embassy, has received from the porte a copy of a telegram sent to the Ottoman embassy at Paris for communication to M. Delcasse, French foreign minister. This telegram, while giving vague assurances, formulates nothing concrete. It requests a resumption of diplomatic relations between the two countries with a view of reaching a satisfactory settlement of the matters in dispute.

TRAIN BLOWN UP BY BOERS.

Lieut.-Col. Vandeleur, of the Irish Guards, Killed—Other Casualties Not Reported.

London, Aug. 31.—A dispatch from Lord Kitchener, dated Pretoria, 31st, says:

"A train was blown up to-day between Waterval and Haman's Kraal by 250 Boers, who at once fired on the train, setting it on fire. Lieut.-Col. Vandeleur, of the Irish guards, a most promising officer, was killed. The other casualties have not yet been reported."

Killed by Lightning.

Altoona, Pa., Aug. 31.—During a thunderstorm D. L. Marks, aged 23 was struck by lightning and killed. With four companions Marks sought shelter in a pavilion on the top of a hill on the golf grounds. The building was struck and all of the men were rendered unconscious.

An Old Relic Unearthed.

New York, Aug. 31.—A stone plow believed to be fully 300 years old, has been unearthed at Bloomfield, N. J., by workmen on a culvert.

SOUTHERN GLEANINGS.

Prohibition in the South.

Kentucky has long been the target for jokes about liquor drinking because of the immense production of whisky; but, according to the Cleveland Plain Dealer, these jokes are entirely unwarranted. "It is a fact," states the Plain Dealer, "that of 94 counties of Kentucky only 4 permit the sale of liquor except on physicians' prescriptions. The big state of Texas, which has a 'wide open' reputation in the north, has 120 prohibition counties; Georgia leads all of her sister states of the south with 132; Mississippi has 84, Tennessee 70, North Carolina 60, Virginia 55, Alabama 50, Arkansas 50, West Virginia 40 and Florida 30."

Attack on Negroes Was Fatal.

James Hatfield was killed and Winfield Hatfield, his brother, seriously wounded in Elk Valley, Tenn. The two Hatfields were leaders of a band of mountaineers, who attempted to drive negro laborers, who were building a new railroad, from the country. The mountaineers were fired upon, the Hatfields being shot. This was the third attempt to drive the negroes away, and a number have fled from the camps. The Hatfields are related to the famous Hatfield feudists, of West Virginia and Kentucky.

Sentenced for Lynching.

The jury in the cases of John Strength and Martin Fuller, at Wetumpka, Ala., charged with having participated in the lynching of Robert White, a negro, returned a verdict of guilty of murder in the second degree, and sentenced the defendants to ten years in the penitentiary. This makes three convictions in these cases, George Howard having been sentenced to life imprisonment a few days before, after pleading guilty.

A Mosquito Story.

An item from Raleigh, N. C., tells the story of an unusual mosquito plague in that section of the country, one incident being that an unknown minister, travelling with a small child through Hyde county, had to tie up the child in a large paper sack to keep the mosquitoes from devouring it alive, and was nearly overcome himself when he reached Fairfield, where he found shelter from the ravenous insects.

Two Artillerymen Killed.

While the Seventeenth battery, field artillery, was at drill at Fort Sam Houston, Tex., an accident happened that was fatal to two artillerymen. The horses were new and untrained, and during the drill they became unmanageable and overturned the gun carriage, carrying underneath artillerymen James Clark, corporal, and privates Nix and James, the injuries of the two latter being fatal.

Pianist Pape Dead.

Dr. William Barnhouse Pape died at Mobile, Ala., aged 51. He was noted as a pianist of remarkable gifts. When 13 years of age he appeared with Mme. Anna Bishop in New York. He visited Havana, then Canada, and made two tours of England, playing before the royal family of England June 6, 1864. Later in life he devoted himself to the practice of medicine.

Deputy Sheriff Killed.

James Sweet, a special deputy sheriff, was shot from ambush and killed, near Muscogee, Fla. Deputy Sheriff's Vaughan, Holston and Sweet arrested three men and three women at a dance for fighting, and started on a special

The steel trust seems to have won their fight against the strikers, and in doing so have dealt organized labor a severe blow.

Gen. Lawton's picture is to go on the new postage stamps, and now any one who is able to buy a stamp can lick the Philippine warrior.

If the natural law of supply and demand prevails, the Conclave in Louisville last week should raise the market value of mint in Kentucky.

The stories that Rear Admiral Sampson is failing mentally are stoutly denied by his friends. However, in coming to this conclusion they have not considered his connection with that little Santiago affair.

Mrs. Carrie Nation has been arrested in New York for "raising a crowd and creating a riot." The old lady rises solely for the purpose of getting suppressed. It's notoriety more than temperance she is seeking, and she needs to be perpetually squelched.

An old fiddler's convention will be held in Princeton today. Crittenden could send a delegation of old veterans, like Uncle John Fowler, J. Mat Dean, Sam and Bob Heath, Andy Hill, R. W. Wilson, Sam Carriek and Joe Stewart, who could talk to them in sweet strains of the "Gal I left behind me," in a style that would easily win a nomination for Congress.

FORGERY.

A Shrewd Swindler Visits Our City and Finds a Victim.

One day last week a man giving his name as Young, and claiming to be a salesman for a wholesale grocery house of Cincinnati, came to this city and registered at the Cottage Hotel. The day following his arrival he prepared to leave town. He asked Mrs. Cameron, proprietor of the hotel, if she would cash a check for him, as he was short of money, presenting a check for $50 on one of the Cincinnati banks, signed by a business firm of that city. The check was certified by the Cashier of the Cincinnati bank and Mrs. Cameron examined the check and decided it was good. She endorsed it, the man presented it to the Marion bank and received the money, and left town at once. The check was sent to Cincinnati by Cashier Yandell. Later he received a telegram stating that the check was a fraud and the signature had been forged. The house Young claimed that he was representing stated that they knew nothing of the man. Mrs. Cameron loses the fifty dollars. Young is doubtless an expert swindler. Efforts are being made to locate him.

Expecting the Road.

Mr. Joseph Mason, one of the leading citizens of Cave-in-Rock, was in town Tuesday. He, like all other citizens of his place, is very much interested in the proposed railroad, and is very hopeful of the building of the road in the near future. He said:

They are working night and day and Sunday too, drilling in the bed of the Ohio river opposite our place, and they expected to find solid rock by the first of this week. From what I can gather, the engineer is well pleased with the situation so far. Our people are all very much interested. Sunday a delegation of ten business men of Equality visited our town to get information; they hope to get the road and will leave nothing undone to secure it, if it is built in that direction."

When asked for his opinion about the northern terminus of the line he said:

"It is 47 miles from Marion to Eldorado, and a straight edge placed on Marion at that place, touches Cave-in-Rock and the Saline Mines. This is all I know. The railroad people talk but little."

Getting Ready.

The ponderous machinery of the electric light plant has all arrived and most of it is in position and ready for raising steam. The dynamos arrived this week and the work of placing them is in progress. As soon as the poles arrive the wiring will be done. The Heilman Machine Works, of Evansville, is putting in the machinery, and to the people of this section that means this work will be done right. The Heilman works is one of the largest concerns in the South, and their annual sales of machinery in this section is very large. They handle engines, boilers, saw-mills, sorghum mills, and almost every other machine used in this section. The firm is one of the oldest and most reliable in the South, and if any of our readers need anything in this line, it affords us pleasure to recommend this firm.

Drew a Prize.

Messrs. John and Cary Woods reached home Saturday, ending a three months trip through the west. John was in the big land drawing and was one of the 13,000 out of 170,000 that drew a prize in the big distribution; he gets a splendid quarter section of land thirty-five miles from Lawton, on Otter creek. He will remain here until about the first of the year, when he will leave to settle permanently on his farm. He is one of the county's best young men, and while we regret to lose him, we are glad that he was of the lucky number.

PEA THRESHING.
We have a New Bidwell Steam
Pea Thresher that will take vine and pod into the machine and will separate the peas nicely cleaned and uncracked from the hay, as in threshing wheat; leaving the hay in better condition for feed than before threshing.

The time to cut peas for threshing is when two-thirds of the peas on vine are matured, after mowing the peas they should cure about one-half or two-thirds, then placed in small tall cocks for one or two days, then placed in shed, barn or ricked, each rick should be well covered with hay or straw. The yield of peas per acre is 10 to 25 bushels. The price of peas next season from present prospect will be equal to last season's prices.
We will send our machine into any neighborhood where we are assured 50 acres of a fair crop of peas. Our outfit consists of a traction engine, thresher, 4 horses and 4 men. All those wanting threshing done should notify us at once by postal card stating number of acres to be threshed to enable us to map out route and to let you know when to expect machine. Price for threshing 25 cents per bushel and will set to thresh 25 bushels of peas.

Field for Forestry in Southeastern States

The Practical Woodsman Is Needed in the Mountains of Tennessee and North Carolina

OUR southern Appalachians offer an excellent field for practical forestry. The need of systematic and conservative forest management is beginning to be keenly felt, both for the timber tract and the wood lot. The present desultory form of lumbering, which dates from the settlement of the region, has resulted in a serious reduction of the existing supply of timber. The unnecessary damage which has accompanied this lumbering, together with the repeated fires and excessive grazing to which the forest has been largely subjected, has greatly retarded the production of a second crop. Although there is still enough wood to fill the wants of the settlers, the cost of obtaining it is constantly increasing with the growing distance between the supply and the market. Around the towns and villages the belt of woodlands from which all merchantable timber has been culled widens every year, while fire and grazing often prevent young trees from springing up on the cut-over area.

The mountain region of western North Carolina and eastern Tennessee comprises an area of 15,000 square miles. It includes the Blue Ridge on the east and the Smoky mountains on the west, with the high and broken more important hardwoods are the yellow poplar, the oaks, hickories, chestnut, birch, ash, cherry, basswood, black walnut and maple. The merchantable softwoods, of which there are comparatively few, are chiefly shortleaf pine, white pine and hemlock.

There are two distinct types of lumbering in the southern Appalachians, similar in the extent of the harm done to the forest, but differing widely in the manner in which they are carried out.

The one is the slipshod, desultory form which has been practiced by the farmers of this region since its settlement in order to eke out the generally scanty profits from their farms. Although their output is small individually, their combined efforts, extending over many years, have resulted in the culling of the best timber over a large portion of the more accessible forests. The scattered distribution of the merchantable trees, however, has rendered the lumbering comparatively light except where firewood has been cut as well as saw logs.

The other dates from the time when, some 15 years ago, with the falling supply of timber in Maine, Michigan and the north woods general-plateau which lies between them. Many spurs and ridges run off at right angles from these two ranges upon the plateau, and make of it the loftiest and most rugged section east of the Rocky mountains. The more important of these cross chains are the Black mountains, a spur of the Blue Ridge, which contain Mitchell Peak, 6,711 feet high; the Balsam mountains, with a mean elevation of over 5,000 feet; and the Cowee mountains, one of the longest of the cross ranges. Beginning on the east with the spurs of the Blue Ridge, which lose themselves in the Piedmont district, the elevation increases and the character of the mountain region grows more rugged westward toward the Smokies, in which the Appalachian system culminates.

With the exception of the natural meadows which occupy the summits of some of the higher peaks, the mountains are covered with forest growth. The valleys are almost entirely under cultivation. Upland farming is carried on upon the foothills, and occasionally, for lack of better ground, upon mountain slopes so steep that their thorough cultivation is impossible.

It has often been said that it is in this region that the forest trees of the north mingle with those of the south, and the statement gives but an incomplete idea of the great variety of trees which is here the result of wide local differences in soil and climate. Western North Carolina and eastern Tennessee contain over 100 kinds of native trees. Of these, some, such as the black spruce and balsam, which find in the Smokies at an elevation of 4,000 feet and over conditions similar to those of their northern habitat, are either too rare or too difficult of access to be of commercial importance. Others, such as the black gum, sourwood, dogwood, hickory and aspen, are valueless for timber, and are used for firewood only when no better kinds are to be had. Others again, among which are striped maple, the haw, and the silver-bell tree, have as yet no merchantable value.

Among the commercial trees the ly, began the exodus of many northern lumbermen to the hardwood forests of the Virginias, Georgia and Tennessee, and to the pines and cypress swamps in the far south. With their arrival began lumbering on a large scale in the southern Appalachians, together with the investment of commensurate capital in logging outfits, the thorough repair and extension of logging roads, and the application of those skillful and businesslike methods which constitute clean lumbering. The active and systematic manner in which these men conducted a lumber job and the margin of profit which they wrung from it were a revelation to the natives, but have not yet resulted in any appreciable improvement in their methods.

The degree of care which is justified in the lumbering of any forest depends primarily upon the value of the timber which it produces. The higher the margin of profit on lumbering the larger the capital which is represented by the immature trees and the more important the financial considerations involved in their protection. Stumpage values are not sufficiently good in the southern Appalachians to warrant the application of an elaborate system of forest management, but they are high enough to make a sound business measure of practical forestry. The production of repeated crops of merchantable timber is here advisable, not only on account of the price this timber commands at present, but because it is rapidly increasing in value for the lack of satisfactory substitutes, notably in the case of the black walnut, cherry, hickory, white oak and yellow poplar.

From the point of view of the state, further considerations are involved in the preservation of the forests of this region. They constitute the drainage basins of several important rivers, there is no other great forest region except the Adirondacks of northern New York which is within easy reach of so large a number of people, and its healthfulness is sufficient to have transformed it in the last 20 years from what was practically a wilderness to a deservedly popular health resort.

A SAGACIOUS BARBER.

How He Keeps His Customers in Willingness to Await Their Turn.

A barber in Brooklyn has solved the problem of keeping customers who are in a hurry from running away when they see all the chairs occupied. He has fitted up a gorgeous new shop, and back of it has arranged a gorgeous waiting-room, decorated in very good taste. It has heavy mahogany tables and luxurious easy chairs, and scattered around are not only all the chief illustrated periodicals of the day, but also well-bound popular novels, Macaulay's history, some of the poets, and two or three foreign comic papers and illustrated art journals. A customer on taking his seat, is asked politely if

WEIGHING GOLD COIN.

New Machine That Does the Work of Six Men Used in Chicago Banks.

A machine which does the work of six bank clerks in weighing gold coins has been introduced in several Chicago banks, and its operation caused consternation among the bank employees. George Sites, of the First national bank, is one of the two inventors of the machine. Under his direction 3,000 gold coins at the Commercial national bank the other day were weighed, sorted and counted, says a Chicago special to the New York Times.

The fact that gold coins are accepted at weight value and not at face value is responsible for the invention of the machine. For some time banks have

QUEEN SOPHIA OF SWEDEN AND NORWAY.

Among the crowned ladies of Europe none is more simple in her ways of living and thinking than the charming queen of Sweden. Before her marriage to King Oscar, in 1857, she was a princess of the house of Nassau, and noted for her beauty, traces of which are still discernible in her regular features. Queen Sophia is the mother of four sons, the eldest of whom is the Crown Prince Gustavus, born in 1885. One of her other sons, Prince Oscar, married a commoner, Miss Ebba Munck, and relinquished his rights to the throne. His action, it is said, was sanctioned by his queen mother.

he would like to see a comic paper, a daily, "or, perhaps," says the next hair-trimmer, "you would prefer a history or a book of poems." The shop is a great success.

"You see," said the proprietor, "I used to make my men nervous to know that their particular patrons were sitting on the anxious seat waiting for their turn. Not only did the man in the chair get less attention, but I often lost customers who were too impatient to wait. Now, a man comes in in a hurry, sees the chairs are full; and goes into the parlor, takes up a book, finds a nice easy chair and a cool corner, and forgets all about his hurry. I have ordered some games of chess and draughts, which will help still more to lighten the tedium of waiting for the cry of 'Next!'" —N. Y. Commercial Advertiser.

Don't Mind Snake Bites. Antonio Adabio, foreman of a gang of Italian track hands on the New York Central railroad, has not the been receiving gold by weight, and the work of the teller has become arduous. Every grain that has been worn from a gold piece in circulation means a loss of four per cent. in value, and this amount has to be deducted.

Mr. Sites conceived the idea that the work of weighing the coin might be done by machinery. With the assistance of his brother-in-law, C. M. Reeves, he worked out the delicate mechanism. The coins are fed to the machine much as wheat to a mill. The standard weight coins are returned to one compartment and the underweight coins to another. The machine makes no mistakes.

WOMAN CATCHES GIANT FISH.

Mrs. A. W. Barrett, a California woman, has the record of having caught the largest fish ever taken, without assistance, with a hook and line. The fish was a black sea bass. It required three hours and five minutes of work after the fish took the hook to land it, and it took Mrs. Barrett's boat far out to sea and back again before it succumbed. The fish weighed 436 pounds, was seven feet long and five feet eight inches in diameter. It is being mounted and will be presented to the Los Angeles chamber of commerce by the president of the California Tuna club.

slightest fear of rattlesnakes. Last fall Adabio stepped on a snake, which sunk its fangs into the calf of his leg. The leg did not swell a particle. One morning lately, while at work at Jersey Shore Adabio's men came upon a den of snakes, and all retreated with the exception of the charmed foreman, who managed to kill 11 of the reptiles. Blood flowed from the slight wounds on Adabio's legs, but he refused to accept medical aid and was working as usual next day.

Czarewitch After a Wife. According to society gossip at London the Connaught household is the Mecca of marriageable princesses. In addition to the report that the crown prince of Germany is there to court one of the daughters of the duke and duchess of Connaught, it is said that the betrothal of Princess Margaret of Connaught to the czar's son (Grand Duke Michael, brother of the czar) will shortly be announced.

long and narrow, a weak character is denoted. Long noses are cautious and prudent; short noses impulsive; and tip-tilted ones hopeful, impulsive and joyous. Deep-colored eyes, with well-arched lids, both upper and lower, show a truthful and affectionate nature. An eyebrow slightly curling at the outer edge indicates a jealous nature.

If a girl's thumb lies flat or droops a little, marital submission to the master mind is indicated. If the thumb has a tendency to stand at right angles to the hand, the damsel owning it is headstrong.

A strong character has a strong, erect thumb. Fingers which bend backward mean powerful determination. If they are round, strength, both physical and mental, is indicated.

Loyalty to His Employer.
That young man who consented to have a portion of his blood let out to save his employer, set a remarkable example of heroism. The incident shows what power there is in good blood. There is only one natural way to get good blood, and that is from the stomach. If the stomach needs assistance, try Hostetter's Stomach Bitter. This wonderful medicine cures dyspepsia, indigestion, constipation, and makes rich red blood.

She Knew Amos Keeter.
She was a very talkative old lady and her memory was remarkable. Her nephew from the city soon realized the strength of both of these characteristics. "Yes, indeed," "Say, auntie," he put in when he found an opening in the old lady's continuous chain of reminiscences, "did you ever know the Keeter family that used to live around here somewhere?" "Knew 'em all," cried the old lady, without a moment's hesitation. "Yes, indeed," "Did you know Amos?" continued the nephew. "Amos Keeter!" cried the old lady again. "Well, I should say I did. Many of the party he's taken me to get good blood, and that dear, how his name does call up the good old times!" And then the wicked nephew had to go out behind the woodshed to laugh. His Classification.
There was a rug on the line that needed attention, and she had been looking for some able-bodied man. "Any one a carpenter?" she asked of the hobo who applied for a little financial assistance. "No, ma'am," he replied, honestly, as he hastily backed away. "I'm a dead beater." "I don't believe you do any beating at all," she retorted. "Just give me a chance," he said, "to beat a woman out of a little coin, and see what happens."—Chicago Post.

FARMER AND PLANTER.

A PROFITABLE SIDE ISSUE.

Raising Hogs On the Farm, at Present Prices of Meat, a Profitable Side Line.

Hogs have always been a profitable side issue upon every farm. They live so cheaply and mature so quickly that there is always a good margin of profit. Soon after the war of the 60's the stealing of hogs became such a constant source of loss to farmers that very many gave up raising hogs entirely. Having once fallen into the habit of buying meat, a large part of the farming population have continued to do so. This has been particularly so with the tenant class.

This was very unfortunate. Many millions of dollars have been paid for western meat that should have been kept at home.

At present prices of meat, hogs will pay. Every farmer should at least raise his own home supply. He can raise it for one-half he pays for it. The improved breeds of hogs will make good porkers in from nine to eleven months.

The cost of growing them will depend upon the management. If a little care is taken to provide good pastures of Bermuda, and then arrangements made to supplement these with suitable forage crops, the cost of growing hogs will be very little. Patches of ground-peas, cow-peas, sorghum, sweet potatoes, etc., may be so arranged that they will have a constant supply of cheap food all through the season.

The old idea of feeding hogs entirely upon corn has given way to new and better methods. Growing a succession of such crops as mentioned above and many others not mentioned, makes it easy to have fine hogs for killing that have cost very little.

The new and improved breeds help to do this. The hog is no longer dependent upon "rooting" for a living. The old adage, "root hog or die," is no longer applicable. It is now "eat hog and grow." The best hogs have very little disposition to root. They prefer to eat and lie down and digest. The roaming razor-back roadster has had his day and passed away. The compact, quick growing, easy fattening, lazy hog has taken his place.

The chief point is to keep them healthy by giving them plenty of water, and clean beds and a constant change of food. The much dreaded cholera is easily avoided by feeding upon vegetables, such as turnips, cabbage, potatoes, and fruits that fall from the trees.

Not only is it well for every farmer to raise hogs enough to make the meat for his own family, but hogs are a profitable crop to grow for sale. There is money raising hogs as a business. Not only can money be made selling pure breeds at fancy prices, but selling meat.

From all we can learn the north-west will be very short on corn. That means short on hogs. That means high prices for meat. That means money to the man who has hogs for sale. We remember the old time hog killing, and it thrills us with pleasing emotions to this day. Our farm was a small affair, yet we had about forty fine fat hogs to kill every fall. Up before day, light the great log fire, heat the rocks and with them the water. Take the keen knife, whirl the hog upon his back and find his heart. Then the pulling off the hair, and frying the melts on the hot rocks and blowing the bladders for Christmas. It was a jolly good time, feasting on spare ribs, sausage and crackling bread and brains. We can not help feeling a sort of pity for the boy who never took part in old time hog killing.

If it paid to raise hogs in those days, when meat was cheap, it will pay better now, when it is high.

A small family can raise a few hogs from the household and kitchen slops. These will often make a year's supply of meat and cost nothing but a little forethought.

We urge our readers to try hogs, at least a home supply.—Dixie Farmer.

IMPORTANCE OF FALL CROPS.
A Matter the Importance of Which is Not Fully Appreciated by Southern Farmers.

The importance of all kinds of fall crops has not been properly weighed by southern farmers. But the long continued heated spell out west makes it certain that every kind of food crop will be more important this fall than ever before.

It is not too late to sow turnips. Get the yellow Aberdeen, Rutabaga, Yellow Globe or any variety of yellow-fleshed turnips. Prepare the soil by breaking very deep. Sub-soil if you can. Then harrow until the top is very fine. No chance to get it too fine. Then pack it well with a roller. Make the rows about thirty inches. Do not make the beds too high. You can not cultivate the turnip crop too much before planting. Our experience along this line has been uniform. The more we have worked the soil before planting the larger crop we have made. Cabbage seed sowed now and transplanted as soon as large enough will make nice, tender heads, far better than those sown at any other season.

Oats may be sown in cotton the latter part of August. Put in with shallow running scrapes or cultivators, followed by dust board; they will not injure, but rather benefit the cotton. If the fall should prove late and the oats get too large, they can be pastured. The turf oat is well adapted to this purpose.

The new idea of making hay from wheat is of great value to the south. In many sections, rust so often ruins the wheat that it is not a safe crop. But the wheat may be cut just about the time the rust makes its appearance; just as the full milk stage is reached in the grain. This makes one of the very best foods for all kinds of farm stock. This wheat hay is very easy to cure, and is almost equivalent to corn and fodder both. Horses will plow right along and keep in good condition with this as the only food.

If a cutting knife is used there will be no waste at all. The straw answers the purpose of fodder and the grain takes the place of corn. The value of the hay used in this way is nearly or quite double the value of the same crop if suffered to ripen and the grain threshed and the straw lost as is generally the case.

Every farmer should sow some wheat for hay. We should not be prejudiced against this because it is money and this is one way of making it. This crop can be made to come in before any other spring food is ready.

Again and again we urge our friends to sow alfalfa. This in the long run is the best paying that can be grown. It needs to be sown only once in a lifetime. Hence it will pay to take pains and give it a good chance to get hold and start off well. Every farm should have an acre of alfalfa for each horse and cow.

Food crops for this fall, winter and spring use will be found very profitable.—Southern Cultivator.

Value of the Walking Horse.

There can be no question of the value of a horse that is able to walk three or four miles an hour. Some people who are unable to look at but one side of a question, object to such horses, because it is impossible for a man to plow at that gait for ten hours a day. But this is no objection. If a horse can go four miles an hour, he can go three in the same length of time, and this is none too fast for good plowing. A slow team, going at the rate of two miles an hour, does not turn a furrow well, for the furrow slice will often fall back, when slowly turned, especially in stiff land or sod. The quicker movement gives sufficient velocity to throw the furrow slice completely over and break it loose from the subsoil. Besides, it is better to plow one or two acres a day of six hours than the same amount in one of ten, and the quicker way is not only more effective in quality of work, but is easier on the man who is driving. In harrowing, rolling or any of the multifarious duties that a horse is called upon to do on a farm, a quick movement is indispensable to good work; and when on the road the saving of one-fourth to one-third the time is a great aid to expedition in work, and is consequently economical. A draft horse that has been trained to walk four miles an hour is worth in money fully twice as much as one that makes 2½ to 3 miles an hour. This is a rapid age, and crops must be planted rapidly, harvested in a hurry and gotten to market before prices go down, and slow horses have no place in it.—Farmers' Home Journal.

National Capital Hay Crop.
A single crop of hay is harvested annually from the government lands surrounding the various department buildings in Washington. These lands comprise about 150 acres in the heart of Washington. The army of laborers in the employ of the government harvest the crop which is used to feed the horses used by the various departments. The inferior grades of hay, after the horses have been supplied, are given to the departments for packing purposes. Every year the finest hay stack produced is presented to the president as a gift from the department of public buildings and grounds to the executive's horses.—American Grain Trade.

HERE AND THERE.
—The more intelligent an animal the better he can be controlled and trained.
—Generally the same breed of cattle do not make beef and milk. The Jerseys excel in butter, the Holsteins in milk, and the Shorthorns, Galloways and Herefords in beef producing qualities.
—Sometimes, sowing rye in the corn at the last cultivation, will afford a great deal of feed in the shape of late fall and early spring pasture. The stock that pastures it will at the same time fertilize the land more or less.
—A splendid remedy for foot rot in cattle is a saturated solution of alcohol and logwood. Dissolve the logwood in a little water and then add the alcohol. Pour it in the affected parts. It is also good for cuts and bruises.
—Maryland is soon to have an Angora goat farm. A tract of 460 acres of farm land near Cedarville, Md., has been purchased by several wealthy men of that state with the intention of raising Angora goats on an extensive scale.
—Hens deprived of green feed will not lay well. A test was made at the North Carolina experiment station, wherein a pen of white Leghorns having plenty of green food laid 114 eggs, while a similar pen without green feed laid only 90.

—The turkey is not yet sufficiently removed from its wild state to bear the confinement given hens, even during the cold weather, and the person who would be successful with them must work on the plan of wide range and little or no shelter.

ELECTRICAL NOTES.

Projected telephone improvements at Chicago will cost $3,000,000.

Carnegie is having four electric elevators put in his New York house.

The demand for electrical ventilators in India is ahead of the supply.

An electric road 120 miles long is to be erected between Chattanooga and Nashville.

Wireless telegraphic stations are being established all along the Gulf of St. Lawrence.

Plans are under way for an unbroken electric railway across the state of New York.

A Paris scientist shows an automatic generator of electricity for automobiles which manufactures as it goes.

The narrows of the Yadkin river, the greatest water power in the south, is to be developed electrically to its highest power.

An electrical generating plant almost as large as the great Niagara Falls plant will soon be in operation at the Falls of Glomen, Norway.

Improved telephone service between New York and Boston will cost $9,000,000. Large sums will also be expended next year in other directions.

A new and wonderful brake for electric cars is being introduced, which in case of accident drops to the rails and wheels and creates maximum friction.

If it is true that Electrician Maiche, at Calais, France, has made an apparatus by which he is telephoning 400 miles by sea cable it means a great step in advance.

Telephones have been introduced on farms in 70 counties in Indiana, the rates running as low as 50 cents a month on some of the lines, though the average is one dollar.

A New Mexico sheep raiser is now electrically shearing 25,000 sheep at the rate of 200 sheep per man per day, and gets three-quarters of a pound of wool more off each sheep than by the old way.

The average cost of the body of a modern long electric car is $2,000; the average price of a set of double trucks for such a car is $600, and the average cost of the motor is $1,500, making the total cost of the car $4,100.

In That Critical Time When a Girl Becomes a Woman.

MISS BESSIE KELLOG.

Miss Bessie Kellog, President of the Young Woman's Club, of Valley City, North Dakota, writes the following from First street, South, Valley City, North Dakota:

"Ever since I matured I suffered with severe monthly pains. The doctor did not seem to understand what the trouble was and the medicine he prescribed from time to time did not help me. He finally suggested that I have an operation. One of my friends who had been cured of a similar affliction through the use of Peruna, advised me to give it a trial first, and so I used it for three weeks faithfully. My pains diminished very soon and within two months I had none at all."

"This is six months ago, and during that time I have not had an ache or pain. I give highest praise to Peruna. Every woman ought to use it, and I feel sure that it would bring perfect health."—BESSIE KELLOG.

The experience of Miss Bessie Kellog, of North Dakota, ought to be read by every girl in the land. It is a critical period in a woman's life when she ceases to be a girl and becomes a woman. Very few pass through this period without some trouble. The doctor is called and he generally advises an operation. Perhaps he will subject the patient to a long series of experiments with nervines and tonics. The reason he does not often make a cure is because he does not recognize the trouble.

In a large majority of the cases catarrh of the female organs is the cause. Peruna relieves these cases promptly because it cures the catarrh. Peruna is not a palliative or a sedative or a nerve or a stimulant. It is a specific for catarrh and cures catarrh wherever it may lurk in the system.

This girl was lucky enough to find Peruna at last. As she says, the doctors did not seem to understand what the trouble was and the medicine he prescribed from time to time did not help her. Peruna hit the mark at once and she is now recommending this wonderful remedy to all the other girls in the United States.

Thousands of the girls who look at her beautiful face and read her sincere testimonial, will be led to try Peruna in their times of trouble and critical periods. Peruna will not fail them. Every one of them will be glad and it is to be hoped that their enthusiasm will lead them to do as this girl did—proclaim the fact to the world so that others may read it and do likewise.

Mrs. Christopher Fliemann, Amsterdam, N. Y., writes:

"I have been sick with catarrh of the stomach and pelvic organs for about five years, and had many a doctor, but none could help me. Some said I would never get over it. One day when I read your almanac I saw those who had been cured by Peruna; then I thought I would try it. I did, and found relief with the first bottle I took, and after two more bottles I was as well and strong as I was before."—Mrs. Christopher Fliemann.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

What It Is. What It Does.

What concerns you chiefly is what a medicine does, but intelligent men and women of to-day feel that they should know what sort of drugs they are taking. This you are plainly told on every package of Yucatan Chill Tonic. It is neither a bitter nor a sweet tonic. It is an honest medicine and made right. No shaking of the bottle required. You get more curative properties in a dose of Yucatan than in six doses of the so-called tasteless tonics. All tasteless tonics are unreliable as the dose is uncertain and consequently more or less dangerous, and sweet Tonics or Medicines do not agree with the stomach.

NEWS OF THE COUNTY.

NEW SALEM.

The health of our people is generally good.

The hay derived from the pea crop is fine; corn cutting will commence this week, and there will be more corn cut this year than since 1881. The late corn is doing well, but our farmers are going to have a hard time getting through the winter, as the corn crop is going to be short, many fields that look as though they would make a one third crop, I find upon examination contain very little corn.

Uncle Samuel Woodson is the first man in this section to cut tobacco. By the way, Uncle Sam has the finest crop of tobacco raised in this section and he knows how to handle it.

There will be a full wheat crop sown this fall, as most farmers have ground already broken.

The Hurricane camp meeting was well represented from this section.

The present crop of tobacco is the finest that has been raised in this section in twenty years. We are in hopes that our farmers may get it safely housed for the proceeds will be needed before another crop is raised.

The peach crop in this section is the finest in twenty years, apples scarce and falling badly.

The hay crop, owing to so many peas being cut for hay, will be more abundant than in many years.

Allen Webb has bought one half of the Watson farm, and will move to it this fall.

Will Lowery has sold his farm near Tyner's Chapel to John Padon.

The people of Grimes school district have just completed a handsome house on the site of the old one.

Turner Hodge, of Emmaus, was the guest of his kinsman, Felix Tyner, Sunday.

Miss Finley is progressing finely with her school at Salem.

The hog crop is the shortest in quite a while with us.

Pat Slina, the bridge man, was up to see Esq. Harpending, looking to the erection of a bridge at or near New Salem church; a new bridge will have to be built in place of the old one, which has become unsafe, and we are in hopes our fiscal court will give us an iron bridge. The great amount of heavy freight passing over that road daily demands a substantial bridge and our part of the county is willing to help pay for it.

Thos Hargraves and family left Saturday for a visit to Mr Hargraves relatives in Ill.

James C. Moran and Miss Nar Conyers went to Marion last week and were married, Rev E. M. Eaton officiating. The young people have gone to house keeping. May their future be a happy one.

Constable James Woodyard, of Livingston county, was in this section last week on official business; the bird had flown; come again, Jimmy.

Joe Pace, our supervisor, has his road in fine order.

Jim Simpkins, who had the contract to recover Emmaus bridge, has completed the job and put on a number one roof. Why not tell the truth; it is best in the long run.

Stood Death Off.

E. B. Munday, a lawyer of Henrietta, Tex., once fooled a grave digger. He says: "My brother was very low with malarial fever and jaundice. I persuaded him to try Electric Bitters and he was soon much better, and continued their use until he was wholly cured. I am sure that Electric Bitters saved his life." This remedy expels malaria, kills disease germs, and purifies the blood; it aids digestion, regulates the liver, kidneys and bowels, cures constipation, dyspepsia, nervous diseases, kidney troubles, female complaints, and gives perfect health. Only 50 cents at H. K. Woods & Co's drug store.
